E-Governance Days 2011

16–20 May 2011

Origins of the forum

Over the previous three years, the National Academy of Public Administration under the President of Ukraine held E-Governance Day as part of the United Nations' World Telecommunication and Information Society Day.

The 2011 initiative

After Ukrainian President Viktor Yanukovych designated 2011 the Year of Education and the Information Society, the National Academy began organising E-Governance Days 2011.

Expected participants

The organisers expected deputy heads of agencies and heads of organisational units (position categories I–IV) responsible for implementing e-governance in Ukraine’s central executive bodies and regional state administrations.

Purpose of E-Governance Days

Advance e-governance as a condition for successful reform. Share leading international experience and showcase effective practices from Ukrainian national and local authorities.

Interest and participation

The forum attracted public officials responsible for e-governance, international partners, members of the public and technology providers. The briefing reports that about 1,500 people participated across the previous three years.

16 May 2011

- International research and practice conference on e-governance and the modernisation of Ukraine. The programme lists officials responsible for e-governance at the national and local levels, members of Ukraine’s Parliament and international experts.
- Videoconference and presentation of diplomas to 2010 E-Governance Day nominees.
- Press conference.
- Exhibition of e-governance technologies.

17 May 2011

- Working group on digital public administration, ministries and services. National and local officials responsible for e-governance were to take part in training and presentations on Ukrainian and international practices.
- Press conference.
- Exhibition of e-governance technologies.

18 May 2011

- Working group on information security, personal data protection, electronic records and digital signatures.
- Training and presentations on Ukrainian and international practices, with national and local officials responsible for e-governance.
- Press conference and exhibition of e-governance technologies.

19 May 2011

- Working group on digital education and the use of information and communication technologies in schools. Participants were to include e-governance officials, heads of education departments, school principals and teachers leading new initiatives.
- Training and presentations on Ukrainian and international practices. Press conference and exhibition of digital education technologies.
- Training for pupils in Grades 4–11.

20 May 2011

- Closing round table on priorities for implementing e-governance as Ukraine modernised. Leaders from national and local authorities were to review proposals from the working groups.
- Presentation of diplomas to E-Governance Days 2011 nominees.
- Closing press conference.

Final programme and contact

- The Academy planned to publish the final programme at www.egov.in.ua once it had confirmed how the relevant Ukrainian authorities would participate.
- Forum email: 2011egov@gmail.com.
- Contact: Svitlana Anatoliivna Chukut.